

DRUG DISCOVERY AND DEVELOPMENT SUPPORT

Specialist Logistics Services – Domestic and International Shipping

Advantages:

- Industry experts dedicated to supporting Charles River clients with their shipping and logistics processes
- Built specifically to help clients do business with Charles River sites globally
- In-house 'Shipment Design' processes save clients time and money
- Reduces the complexity of shipping biological and chemical materials worldwide
- Currently focused on Charles River site origins or destinations only

Overview:

Navigating the rules and regulations for the movement of biological and chemical material can be challenging enough, even before considering cold chain, document production, route design, freight forwarder/courier/integrator management, and compliance with transport hazard classification. The Specialist Logistics Services team directly supports clients by handling the entire shipment design process or by providing advice relating to a particular step. Team members take care of any necessary arrangements for the physical movement of the commodity from origin to destination, resulting in expedited analysis of discovery material at the destination location(s).

Research Applications:

Customers need only contact the Charles River Specialist Logistics Services team or their Charles River principal investigator for a customized shipping solution or advice through the shipping design process. Clients requesting assistance with the entire shipment process are triaged through our in-house 'Shipment Design' procedure for fast service. Our clients can expect fast, safe shipping procedures that comply with regulatory agencies worldwide.

Select Charles River locations offer onsite shipment receipt/accession for applicable shipments prior to dispatch to a Charles River location internationally. This extension of local ground courier services creates a single gateway for clients who wish to do business with Charles River internationally.

A Concierge Experience:

Our concierge-style custom shipping solutions currently apply to clients shipping products to or from Charles River sites.
