

MY IMPACT ON ANIMAL WELFARE

“It is to recognize, report, and treat animals that need extra care.”

My calling in life is the humane care and ethical treatment of animals, and working for Charles River, I have been able to exercise that everyday.

Charles River puts the humane care and ethical treatment of animals first, before anything else. First, not because it's written in some protocol or enforced by some law, but because it's the right thing to do.

My job and the jobs of others that I work with here at Charles River are extremely important. Important not only to the human lives that we better with our research and development, but important to the tiny lives that we hold in our hands. My job here at Charles River is to be a voice! It is to recognize, report, and treat animals that need extra care. Here at Charles River, we are always providing treatments and environmental enrichment to increase the comfort level of our animals.

The humane care and ethical treatment of animals is alive and well in the halls, isolators, and labs of Charles River. As an employee of Charles River I'm proud to say that I contribute to that every day.

— Michelle B., Charles River, Wilmington, MA

“My job here at Charles River is to be a voice!”

Make Caring Happen