

HOW DO I SUPPORT BIOMEDICAL RESEARCH? WITH ALL OF MY HEART!

Biomedical research is more than just my job. My daughter has a rare brain tumor and biomedical research could potentially save her life. The mice that we care for are not just adorable little animals, but potential life savers. My job is much more than a paycheck for me, and these animals represent a brighter future for my daughter. Every day, I care for them knowing how important they are in finding new treatments. I am so grateful to the mice for the knowledge and medical cures they help discover. I can only hope that one day one of my mice will unlock the keys to find a cure for my own daughter, or someone else's illness.

Angie W., BS

Study Support Associate, Breeding • Charles River Insourcing Solutions

Make Caring Happen

www.criver.com

charles river